Introduction

The European Brain Research Area project — EBRA — was created as a catalysing initiative for brain research stakeholders (researchers, clinicians, patients, governments, funders and public institutions) to streamline and better co-ordinate brain research across Europe while fostering global initiatives.

News

1 November 2018 marked the launch of EBRA and brought the full consortium together in Brussels, Belgium for a kick-off meeting. Read more

EBRA was presented at the University of Auckland's Global Burden of Disease Brain Summit in Auckland, New Zealand on 27 November 2018.

EBRA and NEURON co-organized a specific thematic workshop on the issue of transparency, reproducibility and independent verification in biomedical research on January 22nd, 2019 in Bonn, Germany. Read more

EBRA was presented at poster session during a “Research Day” at the Campus Biotech, Geneva on 27 May 2019. The poster was presented by a member of the Human Brain Project - EPFL team, one of EBRA's partners.

The EBRA Call for Clusters was launched in March. It aims to promote co-operation and exchange between brain research projects and networks and to support coordination of research efforts. The first cluster deadline was 1 June 2019 and the applicants are now under consideration, with results to follow in mid-September 2019. The deadline for the second round of applications is 1 January 2020. Read more on Clusters and how to apply.

EBRA was presented at the 5th Congress of the European Academy of Neurology on 30 June 2019. Project Coordinators, the European Brain Council, gave a 20 minute introductory presentation on the project and disseminated project information at their exhibition stand.
